Medical care and treatment improve health outcomes and decrease the risk of HIV transmission. People with HIV who take HIV medication as prescribed and reach and maintain viral suppression cannot sexually transmit the virus to their partner. Among transgender clients receiving RWHAP HIV medical care in 2020, 84.5 percent are virally suppressed,* which is lower than the national RWHAP average (89.4 percent).

*Viral suppression is defined as a viral load result of less than 200 copies/mL at the most recent test, among people with HIV who had at least one outpatient ambulatory health services visit and one viral load test during the measurement year.
